

Asking the NEXT RIGHT QUESTION

COMPLEX TIMES REQUIRE DEEP COLLECTIVE THINKING AND ACTION!

What if you could ...

- >> Tap into the creative and critical thinking of everyone in your organization;
- >> Harness this higher level thinking towards new directions and actions;
- >> Enable wisdom and knowledge to emerge and be utilized to...

... sustain and evolve individuals and the organization to innovate and prosper?

ASKING THE NEXT RIGHT QUESTION is an online, collective thinking technology that engages your people in timely, facilitated exercises. This iterative questioning process focuses group reflection, thinking, and action on complex issues facing your organization.

Questions can focus on:

- Understanding your organization's essential role in a changing world
- Building alignment around strategic initiatives and future direction
- Addressing critical issues facing the industry that require broad input
- Professional growth, development, and evolution

The RESULTS and BENEFITS:

- Capitalize on the changing landscape in your industry
- Thoughtful actions – innovative outcomes
- Higher levels of mutual understanding and alignment of diverse stakeholders towards greater impact
- New thinking tools to process complex issues
- Sustainable, higher-order decisions based on cross-functional input

We work with you to:

- Design an enlivening engagement campaign
- Coach, facilitate and support a team to carry on a deep meaningful campaign
- Assist team in identifying the next right questions
- Facilitate the online process and analysis of input
- Maximize participation during the campaign
- Optional: Formal training of participants to the questioning techniques and principles
